Danny Ross Lunsford

Basically I was planning on being the first man on Mars :) It didn't work out. But, I did get a good science education (physics), have made what I think is a contribution to published science, and manage to support myself as an IT contractor. I remain hopeful that we humans will get back on the path of progress sooner or later.

August 2005